ABOUT THIS SAMPLE

What you're about to read

A real Soul Memory Blueprint, in miniature.

The Soul Memory Blueprint is a journey into the oldest part of you: the soul that existed before this lifetime began, the lineage that shaped the body you were born into, and the long story your soul is completing now. It reads four of your charts together, using the language of karma and past lives as a way of understanding the deep patterns you carry.

This sample comes from a real Soul Memory Blueprint. What follows are excerpts: the opening letter, how to read karmic language, the four charts of your soul memory, your karmic map, your South Gate, the sanctuary of memory, the merit you carried in, your Karmic Destiny Point, your North Gate, and your keys.

EVERY SOUL MEMORY BLUEPRINT INCLUDES

- What your soul remembers: your South Gate, the sanctuary of memory, and the ancestral current

BEFORE YOU BEGIN

A Letter Before You Begin

Dear one,

This blueprint is a journey into the oldest part of you: the soul that existed before this lifetime began, the lineage that shaped the body you were born into, and the long story your soul is completing now.

Some of what you read here will feel strangely familiar, as though you are remembering more than learning. That is the nature of this work. The patterns described in these pages already live in you. You have felt them in your instincts, in the places that feel like home, in the gifts that came to you so easily, and in the lessons that keep returning until they are learned.

I hold past-life language as a living metaphor: a way of understanding the deep patterns you carry, the gifts you inherited, and the healing your soul came to complete. Take what resonates and let the rest rest.

Your chart tells a story of the sanctuary and the world: of a soul that knows the temple, the healing room and the inner life by heart, and that has come this time to carry that wisdom out into the light. It also tells the story of a lineage of devoted, enduring, intuitive people, whose blessings flow through you, and whose unfinished patterns you are gently bringing to completion.

Read slowly. Light a candle if you like. Let your ancestors sit with you as you read.

With love and infinite light,
Dana

BEFORE YOU BEGIN

How to Read Karmic Language

This blueprint uses the language of past lives, karma and lineage. Here is how to hold it.

KARMA AS PATTERN

In Vedic astrology, karma simply means action and its ripening. Your chart describes the patterns you carry: tendencies, gifts and themes that seem to arrive with you, already formed. Some are gifts to be enjoyed. Some are lessons to be completed. All of them are workable, and all of them are yours to shape.

PAST LIVES AS LIVING METAPHOR

When this blueprint speaks of past lives, it offers a symbolic story that helps you understand the depth of what you carry. Whether you hold reincarnation as literal truth, as metaphor, or as poetry, the patterns it describes are real in your experience, and naming them can be deeply healing.

LINEAGE AS INHERITANCE

Your lineage chart describes what flowed to you through your family: the strengths, devotions and wounds of the generations before you. Every family carries both blessings and unfinished stories. Seeing them clearly lets you keep the blessings and complete the stories.

COMPLETION AS FREEDOM

The purpose of this blueprint is freedom. When you see a pattern clearly, you can choose how to meet it. Every chapter ends with a pattern ready to complete, a practice, and a Key to carry.

A GENTLE NOTE

This blueprint is offered for reflection and self-understanding. If any part of it touches something tender in your family history, give yourself time, and consider sharing it with someone you trust.

The Four Charts of Your Soul Memory

Your Soul Memory Blueprint is read from four charts, each calculated in sidereal Vedic astrology, a star-based and lunar-based system.

CHART	WHAT IT REVEALS IN THIS BLUEPRINT
D1 · Birth chart	Your South and North Gates, your 12th house of soul memory, your 5th and 9th houses of merit, and Saturn, your karmic teacher
D9 · Navamsha	The maturing soul, and your soul contracts in love and partnership
D12 · Dwadashamsha	Your lineage: your mother's line, your father's line, and the blessings and patterns of your ancestors
D20 · Vimshamsha	Your spiritual body: your devotion, your practice, and the path of your spiritual growth

The D12 and D20 are fine divisional charts. Each one changes sign every few minutes of birth time, so they reward an accurately recorded birth time. Your blueprint is calculated from the time you provided.

What Your Soul Remembers

YOUR SOUTH GATE · THE SANCTUARY OF MEMORY · YOUR LINEAGE

SAMPLE

ONE

Your South Gate

Ketu • Cancer • Ashlesha • 12th House

If we read your South Gate as memory, it carries the imprint of the sanctuary. Ketu sits in Cancer, the sign of the mother, the home and emotional nourishment, in your 12th house of retreat, devotion, dreams and the unseen. It lives in Ashlesha, the nakshatra of the Nagas, the serpent deities who guard esoteric knowledge, kundalini and the healer's power over subtle energy.

Together these describe a soul that has lived, many times, as the one who tended in private: the healer in the temple, the keeper of herbs and remedies, the mystic who held other people's grief behind closed doors, the one who mothered a whole community. You may recognize this in how naturally you sense what lives beneath the surface, in how quickly people confide in you, and in how meditation feels like coming home.

THE CLOISTER AND THE HEALING ROOM

The 12th house is the house of monasteries, ashrams, hospitals, retreats and faraway places. Ketu here suggests a soul deeply familiar with sacred enclosures. In your instincts, you may feel a pull toward quiet, candlelight, ritual, incense, prayer and long periods of solitude. These are memories of a way of living your soul knows well.

Cancer adds the quality of care. The sanctuary your soul remembers was a place of nourishment as well as devotion. You may have prepared remedies, tended the sick, raised children, fed travelers or held a community together through its hardest seasons.

ASHLESHA: THE SERPENT'S WISDOM

Ashlesha's symbol is the coiled serpent. It is the nakshatra of hidden power, of the energy that rises through the spine, of medicine and poison, and of the profound insight that sees exactly where a wound lies. Its deity is the Nagas, guardians of the treasures beneath the earth. With Ketu here, your soul carries an old familiarity with subtle energy, with the healing arts, and with the kind of knowledge that has always been passed on quietly, from teacher to student.

SAMPLE

Ashlesha is also the star of shedding. Like the serpent, you know how to release an old skin and emerge renewed. This is one of your greatest gifts: you complete things, let them go, and begin again.

THE GIFTS YOU CARRIED FORWARD

- An instinctive ability to sense, hold and shift emotional energy
- Comfort with silence, ritual and the sacred, as though you have always known them
- A healer's discretion: people trust you with their most private truths
- A natural understanding of subtle energy, intuition and the inner life

THE PATTERNS ASKING TO COMPLETE

- Caring for everyone in secret while your own needs go unspoken
- Retreating when you are tired, in place of asking for support
- Keeping your gifts behind closed doors

WHY THIS MATTERS NOW

This is one reason intimate, sacred spaces feel like home to you, and large public rooms can feel foreign. Your soul knows the sanctuary well. The invitation of this lifetime, shown by your North Gate in Capricorn in your 6th house, is to bring that sanctuary wisdom into structured, visible, everyday service, so it can reach the many people who are waiting for it.

Your South Gate is ruled by your Moon, which sits in your 11th house of community. The bridge is already built into your chart: the private wisdom of the 12th flows naturally into the chosen circle of the 11th.

REFLECTION

Which sacred practices have always felt familiar to me, as though remembered?

Where am I still caring for others in secret?

KEY TO CARRY

I carry the sanctuary within me, and I share its blessings freely.

TWO

The Sanctuary of Memory

Your 12th house • Cancer • ruled by the Moon in your 11th

In Vedic astrology, the 12th house is the house of what comes before and after: the soul's memory, the dream world, sleep, retreat, foreign lands, and moksha, liberation. It is the doorway between this life and everything beyond it.

Your 12th house is Cancer, the sign of the Moon, holding Ketu, your South Gate. It is gazed upon by three of the most powerful planets in your chart: Mars, your yogakaraka; Saturn, your karmic teacher; and Jupiter, your guru planet. Few charts carry this much attention on the house of the soul.

WHAT THIS DESCRIBES

A spiritual life that is strong, active and protected. Mars gives your inner life courage and energy: your spiritual practice is something you do, with devotion and effort. Saturn gives it structure and seriousness: you are capable of long, steady practice over many years. Jupiter gives it wisdom and grace: teachers, teachings and blessings arrive for you through the inner life.

Your dreams are likely to be vivid and meaningful. Your intuition grows clearest in solitude. Places of retreat, the sea, the mountains, a quiet room at dawn, restore you profoundly.

THE MOON AS THE KEEPER OF YOUR MEMORY

The ruler of your 12th house is your Moon, in Gemini in your 11th house, in Punarvasu, the star of the returning light. This is a beautiful signature for soul memory. Punarvasu means the return of the light, and its deity Aditi is the boundless mother. Your soul memory is held by a mother of infinite space, and its nature is renewal. Whatever your soul has lived through, it has come home to itself again and again.

In your navamsha, the Moon is exalted in the 12th house itself. The deepest peace of your soul lives in the sanctuary, and as you mature, that peace becomes steadier and more available to you.

SAMPLE

LIVING WITH YOUR SANCTUARY

- Keep a dream journal beside your bed, and read it at each new Moon
- Protect regular periods of retreat as sacred appointments
- Create a small altar or sanctuary space in your home
- Let solitude be a source of renewal, then return to your circle with your gifts

KEY TO CARRY

My sanctuary is my soul's memory; in its stillness, I remember who I am.

FIVE

Purva Punya: The Merit You Carried In

Your 5th and 9th houses

Classical astrology calls the 5th and 9th houses the houses of Purva Punya: the merit, blessings and wisdom a soul carries forward from before. They describe the good karma you arrived with, the grace that seems to find you, and the gifts that ripen easily in this lifetime.

YOUR 5TH HOUSE: SAGITTARIUS

Your 5th house is Sagittarius, the sign of the teacher, the pilgrim and the seeker of truth. Its ruler, Jupiter, the great guru, sits in Scorpio in your 4th house, in Anuradha, the nakshatra of Mitra, friendship and devotion. Your Moon casts its gaze onto this house from your 11th.

This suggests a soul that has studied and taught sacred wisdom before, often privately and close to home, among people who chose to walk the path together. The merit you carry is the merit of the devoted student who became a teacher. Learning comes easily to you, teaching feels natural, and the right teachers have a way of appearing at the right time.

Jupiter, the ruler of your merit, sits in an angle of your chart, the 4th house. Classical astrology counts this as a signature of rising grace: the blessings of your past ripen as security, contentment and a deeply rooted inner life.

YOUR 9TH HOUSE: ARIES

Your 9th house is Aries, holding your Karmic Destiny Point. Its ruler, Mars, is exalted in your 6th house of service, and Mars also casts its gaze back onto your 9th house, its own sign. Venus gazes onto it as well.

This describes merit earned through courageous service and active devotion. In the soul's story, you may have been the pilgrim, the warrior of faith, the healer who rode out to those in need. The grace you carry is strong and active. It arrives when you act on your faith.

YOUR MERIT IN YOUR LINEAGE CHART

In your lineage chart, Jupiter sits in its own sign in the 5th house, beside the Moon. This is a beautiful confirmation. The merit you carry flows through your family as well as your soul: you come from people whose faith and devotion created real blessing, and that blessing rests on you.

HOW YOUR MERIT SHOWS UP

- Teachers and teachings arrive when you need them
- Learning and teaching come naturally
- Grace arrives when you act on your faith
- Your home becomes a place where wisdom is shared

KEY TO CARRY

I carry the merit of a devoted student; grace finds me when I teach.

SAMPLE

SIX

Your Karmic Destiny Point

Bhrigu Point • Aries • Ashwini • 9th House

Your Karmic Destiny Point, known in Vedic astrology as the Bhrigu Bindu, is the midpoint between your Moon and Rahu. It is named for the sage Bhrigu, the father of Vedic astrology, and it marks a sensitive point where the soul's karma ripens into purpose. Events in your life often gather around it when slow-moving planets pass over it.

ASHWINI: THE DIVINE HEALERS

Your Karmic Destiny Point falls in Ashwini, the first of the twenty-seven nakshatras, ruled by the Ashwini Kumaras, the twin physicians of the gods. Their symbol is the head of a horse. They arrive swiftly to heal, to rescue and to restore, and they carry the secrets of medicine and renewal. Ashwini is the star of new beginnings, of courageous help, and of healing that reaches people exactly when they need it.

IN YOUR 9TH HOUSE OF DHARMA

The 9th house is the house of your life's higher meaning: your teachers, your faith, your philosophy and the wisdom you are here to share. With your Karmic Destiny Point here, your purpose ripens through teaching and through the transmission of healing wisdom.

ACROSS YOUR CHARTS

In your lineage chart, your Karmic Destiny Point sits beside the Sun, the father, in the 8th house of the mysteries. Your purpose is woven with your father's line and with hidden knowledge. In your spiritual chart, it sits in Leo in the 3rd house beside Saturn and Mars, the house of spiritual practice and self-effort. Your destiny ripens through disciplined, courageous practice, and through the courage to let your spiritual voice be seen.

HOW YOUR DESTINY RIPENS

- Through teaching what you know, simply and directly
- Through healing knowledge offered at the moment it is needed
- Through the courage to begin new things
- Through steady, devoted spiritual practice

SAMPLE

- Through honoring your teachers and becoming one

REFLECTION

What healing knowledge do I carry that someone needs right now?

What new beginning is my soul asking me to make?

KEY TO CARRY

My purpose ripens when I teach and heal with courage.

THIRTEEN

Your North Gate: The Unfamiliar Calling

Rahu • Capricorn • Shravana • 6th House

Rahu, your North Gate, points toward what is new and hungry to be lived in this lifetime. It often feels exciting and a little unfamiliar, because it is the territory your soul has come to explore.

FROM THE SANCTUARY TO THE WORLD

Your North Gate sits in Capricorn, the sign of structure, achievement and lasting contribution, in your 6th house of service, daily work and problem-solving. Where your South Gate knows the hidden sanctuary, your North Gate calls you into the practical world: into systems, programs, routines and work that reaches people in their everyday lives.

Rahu sits beside your exalted Mars, your most powerful planet. Your soul's growth is strongly supported. The courage and stamina you need for this calling are already yours.

SHRAVANA: THE ONE WHO LISTENS

Your North Gate falls in Shravana, the star of Vishnu, the preserver, whose symbol is the ear. Shravana is the nakshatra of listening, learning through sound, and the oral tradition. Your calling is to listen deeply to what people need, and then to teach and serve in a way that truly meets them. Spoken teachings, recorded meditations and guidance offered through the voice carry special power for you.

ACROSS YOUR CHARTS

In your navamsha, Rahu sits on the Ascendant in Gemini: your becoming is defined by this new territory of voice and communication. In your lineage chart, Rahu sits in the 10th house in Leo: you are the one in your line called to rise into visibility. Every chart says the same thing. Your soul is ready to be seen, heard and of practical service.

LIVING YOUR NORTH GATE

SAMPLE

- Create daily rhythms that carry your work steadily
- Teach through your voice: speak, record and share
- Let your work reach people in their everyday lives

KEY TO CARRY

I bring the wisdom of the sanctuary into the light of everyday life.
